

INJURED AT THE BRIDGE.

TWO PASSENGERS BY STRUCK DOWN BY FALLING WOOD AND IRON.

The heavy rain and recent fall of the bridge over the Hudson river... The men employed by the contractor who is building the iron structure were not using the pannelled slab, but probably hadn't stood on it for several days.

There were three or four iron bars and bolts, weighing from 10 to 100 pounds, on top of the slab, which projected over a bracket, by the vibration caused by the shifting of the bridge... The men were taken into the women's waiting room of the bridge, and an ambulance was called from the Hudson street Hospital.
